ABOUT THIS DEGREE PROGRAM

The Master of Human Resource Management (MHRM) program is designed to prepare students to be strategic and tactical HR management professionals within their organizations. Coursework, taught from the practitioner’s perspective, focuses on applying HR competencies to real-world challenges and opportunities.

The MHRM program requires successful completion of 39 semester-credit hours. Total program length varies based on the number of courses taken per eight-week session.

Graduates of DeVry University’s Keller Graduate School of Human Resource Management program may consider management and leadership roles in employee compensation, benefits analysis and administration, labor relations, training and development, and other areas of employee management or teaching at the postsecondary level.

KNOWLEDGE AND SKILLS

LEADERSHIP — Integrate distinct professional HR competencies and practical applications in HR management to ensure that an organization’s most important asset is available, capable and effective in an ever-changing business environment.

STRATEGIC MANAGEMENT — Employ an interdisciplinary perspective for strategic leadership, HR management and decision-making so as to add value to the overall success of a business enterprise.

HR ASSESSMENT — Assess the culture and workplace environment and propose and make HR decisions that align with and help achieve an organization’s strategic goals.
