Online students are expected to meet the same performance standards, terminal course objectives and graduation requirements as campus based students. Therefore, credit hours awarded for course work delivered online are the same as those awarded for courses delivered onsite. The nature of online learning makes contact hours an inappropriate measure of instruction.

Credits and degrees earned from this institution do not automatically qualify the holder to practice certain professions or gain certification in their field. Persons interested in practicing a regulated profession must contact the appropriate state regulatory agency for their field of interest.

STUDENT COMPLAINTS

General student complaints should be addressed to the manager of the department to which the complaint is directed. Complaints regarding academic issues should first be addressed to the appropriate faculty member. Any academic problems remaining unresolved should then be addressed to the appropriate academic manager. Also see the Academic Appeal/Petition section of the academic catalog. Questions or concerns that are not satisfactorily resolved by the school may be brought to the attention of the South Carolina Commission on Higher Education.
